WASHINGTON, (ANP.) — According to an announcement made Monday by Surgeon General Hugh S. Cumming, the United States Public Health Service, as a part of its cooperative work with State health departments in the control of venereal diseases, will give a special course of training to physicians, clinicians, and health officers at its venereal disease clinic, at Hot Springs, Arkansas, during the months of September, October, November and December.

This will mark the second course of this kind ,the other being held last year, which was attended by several physicians and clinicians from various southern states. This year an effort will be made to interest the medical men of the nation in the project and the time has been extended to four months.

Dr. Ralph B. Stewart of the United States Public Health Service is urging the physicians to take advantage of the opportunity. "This course," declared Dr. Stewart who has made a special study of social diseases, "amounts in reality to a post graduate course. The building is one of the finest in the country and the equipment is the best that can be secured. The men who attend the course will be given every courtesy and there will be no jim crowism."

At the clinic last year white and colored patients were treated by Negro physicians and so satisfactory was the service rendered that many of the patients preferred to complete the treatment under the colored physicians as private patients in their home town.

FOREIGN-BORN BROTHERS RANK HIGH IN BUSINESS

Leading Phycisian Of Jacksonville Is West Indian; Has Done Post-Graduate Work At Harvard, Loncon and Prince Of Wales Hospital, London and the Royal Infirmary, Edinburgh.

By FLOYD J. CALVIN

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 13.—The West Indian is making good in many parts of the land of his adoption. Not only do our foreign-born brothers rank high in business and the professions in New York City, where most of them live, but in different parts of the country, wherever they have settled, they are making their mark along with the other progressive elements of the community. Here in Jacksonville one West Indian is head of an insurance company that employs 20 people in its home office, and another, Dr. Israel Elias Williams, a leading physician. Dr. Williams, who took his M.D. from Meharry Medical College in 1913, recently completed a two-story brick office building and residence combined at 102 East Union street, that has a total of 16 rooms and cost $15,000. The lot on which the building stands, which is a corner plot at East Union and Ocean streets, directly across the street in front of the Afro-American Life Insurance Company's home office, is valued at $15,000. Dr. Williams is still under 40, has only been practicing in Jacksonville ten years, and spent the summer of 1926 doing post-graduate work at Harvard University, and the summer of 1927, from June until September doing post-graduate work in Europe.

Dr. Williams was born in Trinidad and attended the public and secondary (high and college) there. He came to America and landed in New York in 1909. He went to Meharry and took medicine, then settled in Bradenton, Fla., and practiced four years. Following his work in Bradenton, he came to Jacksonville and took an office in the Afro-American building, which he held until a few months ago when he moved into his own building. Dr. Williams' office is the only office especially built by a Negro physician for the practice of medicine in Jacksonville. The first floor of his building, the Williams building, contains a library, private office, reception room, physio-therapy room, rest room for patients, bath and drug room. The second floor, which is used fr the doctor's living quarters, contains a drawing room, sun parlor, dining room, kitchen, three bedrooms and two baths. The first floor rooms are specially designed for light and air. The building was constructed by a Negro contractor, J. A. Rosemond. Dr. Williams' office contains $3,000 worth of equipment, including the physio-therapy equipment. There are 21 Negro physicians in Jacksonville, but only one other besides Dr. Williams uses physio-therapy equipment.

Aside from the general practice of medicine Dr. Williams is active in the local, state and national medical bodies. He was formerly secretary of the Jacksonville Medical Association, and at one time read a paper before it on "Diabetes." Dr. S. B. Daniels is now president of the local body. It meets once a month. Dr. Williams is a member of the Florida Medical Association, of which Dr. E. F. Aarons of Pensacola is president-elect. He once read a paper before this body on "Modern Methods of Diagnosis and Treatment of Diseases of the Kidneys." He is a member of the National Medical Association, and attended the last meeting held in Baltimore. He is also medical director, one of the founders, a member of the board of directors and a member of the executive committee of the Citizens Industrial Insurance Company, and is founder and president of the Velvotone Chemical Company, which manufactures cosmetics. He is a member of the Theta Phi chapter of Jacksonville of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity.

During his post-graduate work in Europe last year, Dr. Williams spent six weeks in London, where he studied at the Prince of Wales' General Hospital, and studied diseases of the chest at the City of London Hospital. He spent a month at Edinburgh studying at the Royal Infirmary and took special courses in other Edinburg hospitals, including a course in "Hematology," diseases of the blood (microscopic), and obstetrics. He spent a month in France taking special courses in the St. Louis General and other hospitals. While in France, Dr. Williams visited the palace of Louis XV at Versailles, where the peace treaty was signed. He sailed on the "Mauretania" from New York and returned on the "California" from Glasgow.

Dr. Williams married Miss Arnolta Johnston, of Charleston, S. C., in 1918, at Americus, Ga. They have one child, a girl, Hortense Gwendolyn. Speaking of how well Negroes can get along in the South, Dr. Williams owns the first 1929 Dodge Senior Six cabriolet that rolled on the streets of Jacksonville. Up to this interview, there is not another car like his in the city.

DR. I. E. WILLIAMS

Dr. Williams is still studious and does a great deal of general reading. He took a large part of his college work by correspondence, but was awarded his A.B. degree by Edward Waters College of Jacksonville while he was practicing medicine. He is a strong "race" man and believes our people should patronize each other in fact, as well as in theory. The fact that he gave the contract to build his house to a Negro contractor shows where he stands on the matter of patronizing our own people.

STATE PHYSICIANS HOLD INTERESTING MEETATCOLUMBUS

Physicians from All Sections of State Attend Sessions—Clinics Held at Tuskegee.

Georgia State Medical Association, which met at Columbus, Ga., last week, was one of the most profitable meetings from a scientific standpoint the association has ever held. The meeting simulated a post-graduate school rather than a medical meeting. The meeting was called to order on Tuesday morning by the general secretary, Dr. C. Waymond Reeves, of Atlanta, who, after the invocation, introduced the presidents of the various sections. The address of Dr. Williams N. Frayser, of Macon, the general president, was brim full of very practical suggestions, which, if put into effect, and they can easily be, the associations standards will be raised. Col. J. H. Ward and his whole personnel of United States Veterans' Hospital No. 91, was at the convention on the last day. Three very heavy lectures were given by these men. The whole association was the guest of Tuskegee Institute and the Veterans' Hospital for one day during which clinics were held in both hospitals.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are as follows: Dr. E. J. Turner, Columbus, president; Dr. E. J. Smith, Savannah, vice president; Dr. C. Waymond Reeves-, Atlanta, secretary, and Dr. Marcus B. Hutto, Bainbridge, treasurer.

The convention will meet in Savannah in 1929. There were over 125 delegates in attendance and the financial report rendered showed the condition of the association to be in excellent shape.

DR. TURNER HEADS STATE DOCTORS

The Georgia State Medical Association of Physicians, Dentists, and Pharmacists held its annual session at Columbus, May 19th. The session was largely attended by the members in the State and by Col. J. H. Ward and his staff from the U. S. Veterans Hospital No. 91 Tuskegee, Ala. Many scientific papers were read and discussed. The lecture on hospitals by Col. Ward was enlightening and filled with valuable information. The lecture by Drs. Simington and Branch showed that they are specialists in their respective departments at the U. S. hospital.

Dr. Frayser Lawson, the retiring state president, delivered a splendid annual message. The reports of the secretary, Dr. J. Raymond Reeves, and Dr. Marcus Hutto, the state treasurer, were splendid and show that the State Association has a good background and a firm foundation for the future life of the Association. Dr. Edwin J. Turner of Columbus, was elected to the office of president; Dr. C. Raymond Reeves, secretary; Dr. Marcus Hutto, treasurer; Dr. Smith Savannah vice president. The last day of the week's session was spent in clinical work at the John Andrew Hospital and the U. S. Veteran Hohpital at Tuskegee. Savannah was selected for the 1929 session.

GEORGIA MEDICOS ANNUAL MEETING TO OPEN MONDAY

Georgia State Medical Association Meets in Columbus Next Week—Medical Men to Visit Tuskegee Also.

Dentists, physicians and pharmacists from all sections of the state will journey to Columbus, Ga., next week to attend the Georgia State Medical Association which will begin its sessions on Monday and hold through Wednesday, May 16.

This is an annual affair among the medical men of Georgia, at which time they will gather to discuss medical subjects, various diseases and hold clinics. Each year has shown a marked increase in attendance, and this year's session promises to be the most largely attended in the history of the association.

One of the most elaborate, constructive and interesting programs it has been the pleasure of the Georgia medicos to hear has been prepared by the general secretary, Dr. C. Waymond Reeves, of Atlanta. On the program this year will appear five specialists from the United States Veterans' Hospital No. 48, of Tuskegee, Ala. This one phase of the program will tend to draw a large number of physicians to this year's session. Another feature of the meeting will be the presence of Dr. C. V. Freeman, of Jacksonville, Fla., president of the National Medical Association, and other national officers.

At the close of the Columbus sessions, the physicians and dentists will go to Tuskegee to attend a clinic to be held there at the United States Veterans' Hospital. The outlook so far indicates that every medical man in attendance at the Columbus session of the Georgia Medical Association will also make the trip to Tuskegee.

The present officers of the Georgia State Medical Association are: William Neal Reaves, M. D., general president, Macon, Ga.; W. H. Wright, M. D., general vice president, Waycross, Ga.; C. Waymond Reeves, M. D., general secretary, Atlanta, Ga., and M. B. Hutto, D. D. S., general treasurer, Bainbridge, Ga.

MEHARRY HEAD SAYS DOCTORS TOO INDOLENT

Don't Take Advantage of Opportunities

Addressing a group of physicians at a banquet held in his honor at the Appomattox club Monday night, Dr. John J. Mullowney, president of Meharry Medical college, asserted that the young physicians were not taking advantage of their opportunities to prepare themselves for greater efficiency in medical skill.

"Why, you sometimes say there is no opportunity for you, but the woods are full of opportunities. The unfortunate thing is that young men and women are not willing to take the punishment necessary for scientific training that will make them giants in the medical world," Dr. Mullowney asserted.

"White graduates of medical, dental and pharmaceutical schools are willing to teach and they give years of sacrifice in study and research to train themselves as authorities in certain branches of their profession," the speaker continued.

Future of School Good

He stressed the efficient training that students receive at Meharry. The future of the school is as bright as it has been any year since his administration, Dr. Mullowney said. Of all the medical graduates of any race who took the state board examination in Texas this year, Dr. Stanton, a Meharry man, led them all. Another graduate led in dentistry, Dr. Mullowney declared.

The records that these young men and women of Meharry are making before the state boards is an indication that the school is bearing fruit, the speaker pointed out. Not one in 120 graduates this year has failed, he said.

It was at this point that Dr. Mullowney touched upon the neglect of the young physician to take advantage of his opportunities to better prepare himself. Meharry needs well trained young teachers to take the place of the old veterans who have given the best years of their lives to the school, the speaker reminded his audience.

Tells Alumni to Give

In concluding his address, Dr. Mullowney appealed to the assembled alumni not to be stingy in giving funds to Meharry. "You men who are out in the field making good money should not give a mere pittance for the maintenance of the institution that made you what you are today," he told them.

The banquet was presided over by Dr. Alfred Diggs, president of the Alumni association. Other speakers were Drs. U. G. Dailey, J. R. White and J. H. Howard. Two hundred and twenty-four dollars were contributed to the quota of the local alumni association.

PHYSIOTHERAPISTS HEAR DR. F. WILLIS

Dr. Floyd W. Willis, 3510 S. State St., was among the prominent physiotherapists who attended the convention and clinics of the American College of Physiotherapy at the Hotel Stevens last week. Dr. Willis took an active part in the demonstrations and discussion of methods used in clinics at institutions, in four of the largest hospitals in the city.

DR. FLOYD W. WILLIS

The college put special stress on the trained and intelligent use of physical-therapies, and the broad field for thoroughly educated and experienced operators in this work. It was shown that some of the most deadly rays may be emitted from these machines, which may prove disastrous in untrained hands.

The most important diseases discussed were high blood pressure, cancer, tuberculosis, arthritis and neuritis, and the effect of light treatment properly administered. Dr. Willis cited many cases which had been treated in his modern sanitarium and his discussions were listened to with great interest.

During the convention a number of physicians visited the Willis institution and inspected the elaborate and extensive equipment for the treatment of patients. Many times during the lectures the Willis institution was referred to as being one of the best and most modernly equipped in the country. Among the visitors were physicians from all sections, many from the South. Among the prominent men at the conventions was Dr Frederick H. Morse of Boston, who stated that among the many institutions of physiotherapy which he had visited he had seen none to excel the Willis institution.

NEGRO DOCTORS MEET IN NATCHEZ

Colored Physicians and Dentists of State Gather in Annual Convention

NATCHEZ, April 26—Negro physicians and dentists are holding their annual conventions in this city. The 18th annual session of the Mississippi Medical Association and the 9th annual session of the Mississippi Dental Association (colored) convened at St. John's M. E. church yesterday.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Dr. P. E. Pinson of Vicksburg, and after disposing of usual routine business proceeded with the program as outlined.

Dr. Pinson is reviewing the work of the association, stressed the importance of a health program for the colored people of Mississippi. He spoke at length on the alarming mortality and the immense amount of sickness among the members of the race. He stated that many of the diseases from which our people die annually are preventable. He gave as the cause of this high mortality and morbidity ignorance and poverty, due to the low economic status of the race.

A paper was presented by Dr. G. S. Tanner of Brooklyn on the subject of "Asthma," which was well received and provoked much interesting and scientific discussion.

In the absence of Dr. J. S. Love of Hattiesburg, the discussion was led by Dr. A. W. Dumas of Natchez.

There was also a paper on gastro-intestinal diseases by Dr. A. A. Gipson of Clarksdale, Miss., which was timely and interesting in view of the summer season, when such diseases are prevalent, especially among children and the debilitated.

In the afternoon surgical clinics were held at the Natchez Hospital through the courtesy of Dr. J. C. McNair and his staff.

A difficult and interesting abdominal operation for the removal of a fibroid tumor was performed with the greatest skill and dexterity by Dr. H. M. Smith, assisted by Dr. J. A. Logan of this city. Dr. Smith is rated as one of the leading white surgeons of the city, and handled the case with mastery skill.

Dr. McNair also presented many unusual medical cases, which proved of great interest to the doctors.

The local colored physicians are highly appreciative of the courtesies shown them by the hospital authorities to their guests.

The dental clinics were held at the offices of Dr. T. B. Coleman and Dr. A. M. Mackel, which proved most interesting.

The treatment of pyhorroea alveolaris or Riggs disease by a specialist Dr. G. W. Badgley (white) of Joplin, Mo., was explained.

Dr. Badgley demonstrated the latest method of treating this most infractable and prevalent disease.

Dr. A. M. Mackel read a paper on the clinical features and treatment of dental caries.

The meeting was in charge of Dr. J. W. Edwards of Vicksburg, president of the Dental Society.

Nat'l Medical Ass'n Promote Move for a Medical School

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 29—(ANP)—As a result of the report made by the Commission on Medical education of the National Medical Association, of which Dr. Frank S. Hargrave of Orange, N. J., is chairman, the executive board went on record favoring the establishment of a medical school to meet the present and future needs of our group in the most feasible place in the South.

The commission stated that more than ninety per cent. of the colored physicians and dentists are educated at Howard University and Meharry Medical College. These institutions are unable to meet the demands made upon them. Each year many deserving young men are turned away for lack of room.

Howard and Meharry send out about one hundred physicians and forty dentists a year, which number is inadequate for the growing population. A special committee on Medical Education, namely: C. V. Freeman, D. D. S., Clyde Donnell, M. D., J. O. Plummer, M. D., E. T. Belsaw, D. D. S., R. C. Giles, M. D., T. S. Burrell, M. D., Geo. E. Bowles, M. D., Frank S. Hargraves, M. D., chairman.

Clinical Work a Feature of the Convention

(By I. D. W.)

The thirty-third annual session of the National Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association met in Baltimore, Md., August 6th to 16th. There are 6,000 doctors in the United States and over 500 registered the first day, representing practically every state in the union and there were two doctors present from Monrovia, Liberia.

The formal exercises of welcome were held at the Bethel A. M. E. Church, a beautiful historic stone structure, at the corner of Druid Hill Ave., and Lanvale street.

The welcome address in behalf of the City of Baltimore was delivered by Acting-Mayor Howard Bryant (Mayor

W. F. Broening being in Europe) who made a very impressive speech and stated that the City of Baltimore encouraged Negro education and home building. He also said that the Negroes in Baltimore owned to-day, more homes than any other city in the Union and they held many public positions. He stated also that, as far back as 1831, the records of the City of Baltimore showed that a Negro lady doctor was listed in the city directory.

The welcome on the part of the Maryland Medical, Dental and Pharmaceutical Association was delivered by Edward J. Wheatly. Responses were made by Dr. C. V. Freeman, of Jacksonville, Fla., president of the National Medical Association, and E. T. Belsaw, D. D. S., of Mobile, Ala., secretary of executive board, and caused a slight ripple when he stated he regretted that Acting-Mayor Howard Bryant had left the meeting before the response had been given.

"I agree with the principle of separation of the races' said Dr. Belshaw, but not in the manner some people want it. I do not believe in horizontal separation, with the Negro below and the whites above, but with a vertical line, with each race climbing on its own side, as high as it wishes."

Loving Cup

Representing the Maryland Medical, cup was received by Dr. Byrd, of Norfolk, Va.

Traditional Cane

The traditional walking cane, handed down from president to president, was presented C. V. Freeman, by E. T. Belsaw.

As a result of the convention, it was estimated that a thousand visitors were in the city. The sessions were held in the ampitheatre of the two million dollar Douglas High School for Negroes. This building contains over 328 large class rooms, accommodating 2,500 students and an ampitheatre that seats at least one thousand persons. The building is a four story concrete, fire-proof structure and covers a large Baltimore block.

Tuesday was devoted to the reading and discussion of papers at a joint session of the medical and surgical departments.

A paper on cancer was read by Dr. Columbus W. Harrison, of Boston, Mass. Dr. Jose N. Cesteros, of New York, read an interesting paper on degenerated broiled tumors, while Dr. W. C. Hacket, of Phoenix, Ariz., read a paper on tuberculosis. Dr. Hacket is chief surgeon of that division of Santefe, R. R., owns and operates a sanitarium for tuberculosis. He is a member of the local white medical association and the white national medical association. He claims that his city is the ideal spot for tubercular patients, because they never have over 4 or 5 cloudy days in any one month and that the lowest temperature is November, when the thermometer registers [illegible] degrees, and the hottest temperture is in August, when the themometer registers only 112 degrees.

Tuesday night we attended the health meeting at the Douglas High School. The program consisted of motion pictures on longevity. It was brought out that white males in the United States lived to an average of 54 years; Negro males 40, white females 56, Negro females 42 years, and that the death rate in the United States, among the whites, is 10 per thousand; Negroes 17 per thousand. 141 thousand Negroes die every year, and a total of 400 thousand are sick annually, and that one child out of every eight dies before it is one year old.

After these exercises, we attended a smoker, for men only, where we were served music, cold drinks, boxing contests and dancing.

Wednesday morning, at nine o'clock, over 200 were in the ampitheatre of the oldest medical building, from a standpoint of continuous use, in the Union, on the campus of the University of Maryland, where we received a medical and surgical treat of the session. There were operations illustrated by motion pictures, lectures and clinical demonstrations by the university professors, including the John Hopkins university and a Dr. Fitzhugh, chairman of the Maryland State Board.

At two o'clock, the surgical class divided, some going to the Provident Hospital, where they saw Dr. Giles, an able surgeon, of Chicago, do a major operation; the other division saw, at Whites Hospital, a herniotomy, done under local anesthesia, by Dr. Curtis, of Washington, D. C.

In the afternoon, we attended clinics at the Snydenhour Hospital for Contageous diseases. The same evening we attended the sorority dance at the Albert Auditorium, where there were more than six hundred on the floor.

Thursday was devoted to the reading and discussion of papers, which started at 9 a. m., with half hour for lunch. We closed at 7 p. m.

The Hospital Association also had its meeting in the afternoon. In this association were about forty members.

In the surgical section there were 84 members, including such men as Dr. Giles, of Chicago, and Dr. Curtis, of Washington, and many others.

Dr. A. L. Turner, of Detroit, Mich., read a wonderful paper on surgical experiences and presented the class with a freak specimen from an intestinal operation, which held the section spell-bound and provoked considerable discussion.

In the medical section, there were many good papers read and especially good was the paper on Empyenia, by Dr. Ish of Little Rock, Ark., which was followed by enthusiastic constructive discussions.

Both medical and surgical sections, along with other sections, elected members to the house of delegates. We are glad to report that Dr. S. F. Frazier, of Savannah, Ga., was nominated, while Georgia, as a whole, was well represented.

The same evening the convention split some going to the beautiful Woodlawn Park, to the dance, while others attended the theatre, where vitaphone pictures were shown.

Friday, there was a short session in each section, after which, there was a joint session where the election took place.

From 2 to 5 p. m. we visited the New Provident Hospital, on Division street, which is the last word in standardized hospitals for our group. The building and its nurses' quarters, are valued at $600,000 and is located in a beautiful section of the city.

Friday night we went to the banquet given at the Armory, in the downtown section, where Wilson was nominated for president. There were about one thousand persons present and the ladies wore beautiful evening gowns.

The meeting next year will be held either at Boston, Mass., or Indianapolis, Ind.

Savannahians who motored up to the convention were Dr. and Mrs. Willie Tyson, Doctors L. E. Martin, S. F. Frazier, I. D. Williams, J. W. Jamerson and L. E. Martin, Jr.

Inspite of the damage done to the highway in the Carolinas and Virginia by the tornado, which caused considerable detouring, the roads were good.

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 23.—The 33rd annual session of the National Medical Association closed on Saturday morning after a sightseeing tour over the city and to the various pharmaceutical and biological plants located here. Negro Wins Second Place In Police Surgeon Test

Dr. Wright, With 89.1, Likely to Get Appointment

Dr. Louis I. Wright, a Negro physician, of 218 West 139th Street, stood second highest on the list for police surgeons, it was revealed yesterday when the examination list was made public. Of 150 physicians who took the examination, only twenty-six were placed on the list. Dr Wright made a mark of 89.1.

Dr. Wright, who was born in La Grange, Ga., thirty-seven years ago, received his A. B. degree at Clark University and in 1915 was graduated from Harvard Medical School. During the war he served as a captain in the Medical Corps and now is attached to the Department of Health at Harlem Hospital. He is married and has two children.

As a police surgeon, Dr. Wright would receive a salary of $4,500 a year. There are two vacancies in the department. He would be the first Negro to obtain that post. There are seventy-four Negro patrolmen on the force.

Police Commissioner Warren was asked later about Dr. Wright's prospective appointment and he replied, "race, color or politics have nothing to do with it."

His manner indicated that Dr. Wright would get the appointment.

NEGRO RATES HIGH FOR BIG POLICE JOB

Dr. L. T. Wright Ranks Second for Department Surgeon

WARREN WILL DECIDE

He Originated Newest Method of Smallpox Vaccination

With the unusually high mark of 89.10 out of a possible 100 points, a Negro, Dr. Louis T. Wright of No. 218 West 139th Street, ranks second in the list made public yesterday of those who have passed the civil service competitive examination for police surgeon.

Provided Dr. Wright passes the medical test Monday, and is appointed by Police Commissioner Warren to one of the two vacancies existing at present, he will be the first man of his race to hold such a position in the department.

A total of 176 physicians took the examination on Oct. 18, 19 and 20 last, but only twenty-six are on the published list of those eligible for certification by the Civil Service Commission. The high man in the list is Dr. Ralph Colp of No. 164 West 79th Street, who scored 89.50 out of the possible 100, or only .40 of a point higher than Dr. Wright. Third in the list is Dr. Morris Green of No. 50 East 86th Street, with a mark of 85.90.

Certificate to Warren

According to the civil service regulations, after the routine medical examination for physical fitness, the first three men on the list will be certified to Commissioner Warren, who is then empowered to select one for the first vacancy. After this appointment is made, the fourth man on the list, Dr. John H. Garlock of No. 161 West 75th Street, will be moved up a notch, and the Commissioner then will select a man for the second vacancy.

Commissioner Warren yesterday set at rest any doubts that Dr. Wright will be appointed if his record justifies it.

"Well, why not?" he asked emphatically. "If Dr. Wright's record shows nothing against him, of course I'll make him a police surgeon. In a matter of this kind I don't allow race, religion or politics to interfere. We have many excellent colored policemen, and they are still coming in."

The salary of a police surgeon is $4,400 a year. His duties are to look after the physical welfare of the policemen under his charge.

Father Noted Physician

Dr. Wright was born in La Grange, Ga., thirty-seven years ago, but his father, a noted physician, moved soon afterward to Atlanta, Ga., where Dr. Wright was reared and educated at the public schools.

He attended Clark University, a Negro college at Atlanta, from which he received the degree of bachelor of arts in 1911. His father in the mean time had died and his mother remarried. His stepfather was also a physician. Young Wright, who had set his mind on following in his father's and stepfather's footsteps, entered the Harvard University Medical School.

His record there was one of consistent excellence. When he was graduated in 1915 it was in fourth position in the class of 100.

He served his interneship in the Freeman Hospital in Washington. In 1916 he returned to Atlanta, where he practiced with his stepfather. When the United States entered the war he enlisted and served eighteen months, the last eight of them in France as a Captain in the Medical Corps.

At the end of the war he came to New York and accepted a position with the Board of Health, which he relinquished in order to engage in clinical work for the Harlem Hospital. In 1925 he was made a regular member of the hospital staff as one of the four adjunct assistant visiting surgeons, a post which he still holds.

Expert in Research

He has done much work in research and experimental fields. Among other things he originated, in 1918, the intradermal method of smallpox vaccination, which has since almost entirely replaced the older incision method. The virus by this method is inserted by needle between two layers of skin instead of in a scratch made in the skin. The older method was unsatisfactory because it was impossible to control the exact amount of virus used.

He is a member of the New York County and State Medical Associations, the American Medical Association, and is President of the North Harlem Medical Society, which has about 100 Negro members.

The Palmetto Medical association was organized in 1896. There are only two of its founders living today. They are Dr. C. C. Johnson of Aiken and Dr. J. R. Levy of Florence. In addition to medical men from all parts of the state there will be other prominent medical men here from New Jersey, North Carolina, Florida and Washington, D. C.

Barnwell has tendered the use of the Coast Artillery Armory for the occasion. It is expected that there will be at least 800 people present at the ball.

There will be a baseball game on Wednesday April 25 between Wilson high school and Darlington high school. There will be a smoker for the doctors on the night of April 24.

The building will be two stories and of brick. It will be located on Vine avenue, just east of Central street, Dr. Green announced yeseterday. Baumann & Baumann are the architects and the contract has not yet been awarded.

The new building will cost in the neighborhood of $20.000 and will contain ten large office suites with additional space for a drug store on the street floor. The offices will be occupied by physicians and allied professional men.

Prominent "'Nooga" Medico Chosen School Physician

CHATTANNOOGA, Tenn., Sept. 3.—Dr. S. H. Clemons, one of the most prominent and successful members of the local medical profession has been appointed school physician [illegible] schools of this city, according to an announcement issued yesterday by Dr. Fred McIsaac. Dr. Clemons succeeds Dr. W. A. Thompson who has given up the work to take charge of his private practice.

The appointment of Dr. Clemons is exceedingly popular among the citizenship here. His excellent ability both in the practice of medicine and surgery has won for him signal recognition over the many years that he has been on the local field. After finishing the course of medcine as offered by Meharry Medical College in 1909, the doctor took postgraduate work at Howard University's medical school and came to Chattanooga where he has enjoyed a lucrative practice since. He has served as school physician before, having put in eight years in that capacity under a previous administration. He is prominent in the Pythian organization, an active officer and member of the Episcopal church and a member of the Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. The doctor and his very estimable wife, Mrs. Cora Durroh Clemons, and two very fine children are happily domiciled at their beautiful home corner of Tenth and Chestnut.

Dr. Clemons has announced that he will begin this week a series of examinations of school children who will enter school this fall. The examinations at the expense of the city, will be directed mainly to the detection of diseased tonsils, tuberculosis, infectious skin troubles and underweight.

DR. H. M. GREEN

Whose efforts made possible the modern Medical Arts Building for local race citizens. Dr. Green has practiced medicine in Knoxville longer than any other physician now on the field and his success has been almost phenominal. His large practice includes members of both races who have benefitted under his skillful treatment. The first building owned by a member of the racial group on East Vine avenue was erected by Dr. Green and the Medical Arts Building is the second modern structure built for him to house race professional men and race business enterprises.

The doctor has been honored with the position of presidency of the local, state and national medical associations and at one time served as alderman of the Fifth Ward of this city.

Modern Institution To Supply One Of Race's Greatest Needs

The Medical Arts Building, 123 East Vine Avenue, the modern two-story structure owned by Dr. H. M. Green, will be opened to the public on Friday, October 5th, at which time Knoxville's citizenship is extended a cordial invitation to visit and inspect one of the most completely equipped and handsomely furnished institutions owned and operated by members of the racial group in the entire country.

Dr. Green and his associate in the medical profession, Dr. N. A. Henderson, have been busily engaged during the last few days changing their office equipment from the Green Building at 108 East Vine, to the new building and when a representative of The East Tennessee News went there on a preliminary inspection trip, surprise was expressed at the splendid progress shown by the well known owner of the institution who has furnished the local populace a place where diseases of every description may be treated on a scale almost equal to that found at some of the largest hospitals in the north and east.

The ground floor of the structure is divided into two spacious store rooms and the stairway leading to the offices of Doctors Green and Henderson, physicians, and Dr. J. J. Johnson, dentist, go up from the center of the building on the Vine street side. Upon reachiny the second floor, patients and visitors enter the large reception room where Miss Minnie Felding, efficient young lady in charge, is seated at the directory desk, ready to establish communication with either of the doctors or the dentist.

Dr. Green's consultation room is the first to the right of the reception room, and adjoining the Building which supplies such a great need of the local populace in general and the Negro racial group in particular is made possible through the co-operation of members of the Green family, according to Dr. Green. Fifty-one per cent of the stock of the institution is owned by Henry Stearns Green, the infant son of Dr. and Mrs. Green, while the balance is divided between the doctor, Mrs. Green, Mrs. Katie Sims, and Miss Lottie Gordon.

Joseph Shaw, well known young man and nephew of Dr. Green, is custodian of the building.

and stroke of the knife. A patient may be placed in position with head down without the slightest discomfort. An automatic sterilizing machine has been placed in this room and instruments may be sterilized promptly without the continuous care of a nurse.

Dr. N. A. Henderson has his offices in a suite of rooms on the west side and these rooms are advantageously located relative to the physiotherapy and medical room of Dr. Green so that patients of the former who need such services can be easily transferred.

To the front of the west side of the building are the office rooms of Dr. J. J. Johnson, and there are all of the most modern devices and instruments needed by a dentist.

GARAGE FEATURE A CONVENIENCE.

The spacious parking space just to the rear of the Medical Arts Building, well paved and reached by a private alley on the west side of the building, will serve as a great advantage to the physicians who bring patients there for treatment. The rear entrance to the physicians' offices will enable a patient to be transferred from the home to the office without having the least exposure.
